Four crashes on A1307 lead to long delays

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

FOUR crashes in three days on the A1307 this week led to severe delays for commuters.

The worst accident left the road between Haverhill and Cambridge closed for three hours on Monday morning.

Police said the collision between two cars, which they were called to at 7.26am, left debris strewn across both lanes.

Although no-one had serious injuries, the road was closed in both directions until 10am.

Chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce, Paul Donno, said: "It shows how important it is for the road to be dualled, and to get traffic off the existing road, which is not fit for purpose.

Have your say at cambridge-news.co.uk/all-about/haverhill

I think it's tragic that it's brought to the forefront because of accidents."

Around 8.45am on Tuesday, the A1307 was closed for half an hour after a four-vehicle crash at Linton. No-one was seriously hurt.

The rush-hour collisions followed two within half an hour at Linton on Sunday.

The first, at 4.34pm, caused minor injuries, while the second, around 5pm, only caused damage to the vehicles.

MP for Haverhill Matthew Hancock said: "With the population of Haverhill set to grow significantly in the coming years, the traffic on this road will only become worse. More congestion will increase the likelihood of more traffic accidents such as the ones that have occurred over the past few days. The cost to human life by deadly traffic accidents and the cost in time lost by road traffic congestion on the A1307 is too great, and it cannot go on this way."

He is backing a chamber campaign to get the A1307 turned into a dual carriageway.

The campaign's strategic board of 16 representatives from councils and other organisations met for the first time in early October.

The campaigners are waiting for the Autumn Statement to decide how to continue. If extra infrastructure funding is announced they will lobby for that to go towards the A1307.

HEALTHCARE

Scanner to be used at surgery

FUNDRAISER: From left at the arts centre health event are: Lois Wreathall, head of practice support at West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group; Ivor McLatchy, town councillor and husband of Betty; Ceri Wolfendale, sonographer at West Suffolk Hospital; Betty McLatchy, town councillor and founder of the Haverwell Community Wellbeing Fund; West Suffolk MP Matthew Hancock HAVERHILL is set to get a £20,000 ultrasound machine after years of community fundraising.

The announcement was made at a health event at Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday.

Town councillor Betty McLatchy, who spearheaded the fundraising with her Haverwell Community Wellbeing Fund, said the machine would be installed at the Clements Surgery in Greenfields Way.

It will enable residents to have much-needed scans without leaving the town, and is particularly good at detecting aneurysms.

It is set to be manned by sonographers from West Suffolk Hospital.

Nigel Beeton, imaging services manager at the hospital, said: "I congratulate Betty McLatchy and those who helped fundraise for this equipment. We are working with NHS West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group to identify a suitable machine and will provide sonographers to operate it once it has been purchased. This should be completed early next year."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The £20,568 raised for the machine was the product of years of fundraising.

Cllr McLatchy organised events and Haverwell also received donations from groups such as the Kedington and Haverhill Bowls Club and the local Lions club.

Cllr McLatchy is set to continue fundraising, and hopes that the ultrasound will provide a springboard for more health provision in Haverhill.

Lois Wreathall, from West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) said at Friday's event: "Because of Betty's work, we are now going to hopefully - with West Suffolk Hospital, who have been great partners - get some ultrasound into Haverhill, which hopefully will be the cornerstone of bigger and better things to come."

The event on Friday was organised by the CCG and the Haverhill Family Practice Patient Participation Group. Representatives from 25 different health and social care organisations set up stalls at the arts centre.

Cllr McLatchy is now hoping to set up a "friends of Haverhill healthcare" group. She asked anyone interested to call her on (01440) 714 338.

CRIME

Vehicles have doors scratched and windows smashed

TWO cars have been vandalised in Haverhill.

The incidents, which are not thought to be linked, took place between October 24 and 25 in Wrattling Road, and in the early hours of October 28 in Millfields Way.

The Wrattling Road incident, which took place between 8pm and 12.20pm the following day, saw a silver Audi have both its nearside door panels scratched with a sharp object.

In the Millfields Way incident, a white Vauxhall Corsa had its windows smashed.

The incident took place at 3.15am, when residents heard the noise of it taking place.

However, no-one saw the incident and police have no description of any suspects.

If you witness either incident or have any information, call Haverhill's Safer Neighbourhood Team on 101, or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Youngsters get out and about

CHILDREN in Haverhill got out into the great outdoors during the half-term break, thanks to Hallowe'en-themed activity sessions.

The 'Explore Outdoor' event, organised by Abbeycroft Leisure, gave youngsters the chance to try their hand at a number of fun activities, including mountain biking and archery.

There was even time for some pumpkin carving just in time for Hallowe'en.

Explore Outdoor co-ordinator Frank Carn-Pryor said: "The kids love it and we've had quite a lot who have come, and then come again."

"It's an opportunity to get kids outside and trying new activities."

COURT

Inmate held six hostage in jail

AN inmate who held six members of prison staff hostage with a plastic knife, has been sentenced.

Lee Twyman, 28, was given a 16 month jail sentence after pleading guilty on October 27 at Ipswich Crown Court to false imprisonment.

The sentence will run concurrently to his present prison term.

The incident happened on May 12 at HMP Highpoint in Stradishall, where Twyman was serving a minimum term of four-and-a-half years for aggravated burglary.

Michael Crimp, prosecuting, said Twyman had been caught with illegal items including wrappers for mobile phone SIM cards.

Disciplinary action was not taken against him because of an administrative mix-up, which angered fellow inmates.

This caused Twyman to face threats which led him to ask to be locked into his cell for his own safety.

He was moved to another wing but again faced threats and told a support worker that he planned to grab officers' keys to force his move to a higher security prison.

Before the support worker could report this, Twyman went into an office and produced a plastic knife with razor blades embedded into it.

Mr Crimp said: "Once the door was closed the defendant turned to the people who were in there and produced a plastic knife with razor blades melted into it."

"He told them no one could leave or they would be cut."

Twyman barricaded the door, smashed mugs and let off fire extinguishers during a three hour stand-off.

During the incident he took four prison officers and a mental health nurse hostage.

Another officer who walked into the office was also prevented from leaving.

After 15 minutes, Twyman allowed four staff to leave when two officers volunteered to stay with him.

After negotiators were called in Twyman put down the knife and removed the barricade.

Vanessa Halai, representing Twyman, said he had been assessed by a psychiatrist who concluded he was suffering from an emotionally unstable personality disorder.

She said: "At the time he was suffering from emotional stress over what was happening and his mother was also receiving threats. He felt he had no other way out."

In hindsight he would have acted differently, she said.

Sentencing Twyman, Judge David Goodin said: "Anyone out of control with a nasty weapon is a frightening sight."

He warned Twyman that the crime would have to be taken into account when he was eventually considered for parole.

Jude Goodin also praised the officers for their bravery and fortitude.

Twyman has since been moved to HMP Belmarsh in London.

CRIME

Six arrests made in crackdown

SIX people were arrested in October as police efforts to tackle drug dealing in Haverhill continues.

On October 9, two people were arrested in a vehicle travelling towards Haverhill.

This was followed by a search of a house on October 19, when a quantity of cash was recovered and two more people were arrested.

Police executed three warrants on houses towards the end of the month.

Two of the warrants were executed on October 21, but no arrests were made.

On October 26, the third warrant was executed. Two people were arrested and drugs and cash were recovered.

The incidents were part of ongoing work being done by Haverhill police to tackle the problem of drugs coming into the town.

At a public meeting last month, Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore, Chief Constable Gareth Wilson and Haverhill Inspector Danny Cooper assured the public that tackling the flow of drugs into the town, and into Suffolk, was a top priority.

filmed the video ahead of his performance at Haverhill Arts Centre on Thursday, November 17.

In the video, he showcases his knowledge of the town – from the correct pronunciation of its name

PLANNING

Concern over power plant

RESIDENTS say that a proposed new power generating plant in Haverhill would be an "eyesore" and cause a noise nuisance.

A decision is set to be made within a month by St Edmundsbury Borough Council on a planning application for the power plant in Boundary Road.

The site lies near the village of Sturmer and at the eastern side of Haverhill.

One resident said in an objection to the application that the plant would be an eyesore.

Haverhill Town Council wrote: "This is a gateway location for the town and the last thing we wish to see is an ugly generator."

Concerns have also been raised about the level of noise the power plant would create.

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

It is intended as a Short Term Operating Reserve (STOR) power plant, meaning that the generator would only be switched on during periods of high demand.

A noise impact assessment carried out for the applicant pointed to this infrequency and the fact that nearby residents already suffered noise from traffic. They said that conditions on noise could be imposed by the council.

But town, borough and county councillor Tony Brown objected in writing, saying the generator might be used a lot during a cold winter.

He said: "There are cottages that are within 200 metres that could be subjected to long term, low-level nuisance noise."

He said that the noise could also affect nearby East Town Park and Haverhill Golf Course.

The proposed site is also very close to children's play centre Simmo's Playzone.

In an objection, Mark Simpkin, who runs the playzone, described the application as "totally inappropriate".

The agent for the applicant pointed out that the play centre had always been on an industrial estate since it was granted planning permission in 2006.

They also said, in response to concerns about the visual impact, that an assessment of this had been done and chimneys would be no taller than 12 metres.

Sitting pretty

A shared love of mid-century Danish design inspired friends Rachel Wirrmann and Penny Oliver to found Pelikan – a reclamation, refurbishment and rehoming service for period sofas and chairs. Alice Ryan takes a (very comfy) seat in their Haverhill studio.

FRIENDS Rachel Wirrmann and Penny Oliver, the brains behind furniture restoration business Pelikan, name every sofa and chair that comes through the door. There's Ana, a jaunty two-seater tub with apple green upholstery. There's Gerda, a long-lined and lovely four-seater in grey. There's Hans, a three-only seen photographs of this particular sofa when we bought it; we called it Bernard. But when it arrived it was far too delicate and feminine to be a Bernard! So we renamed it Brenda: it was so pretty, we actually named it after my grandmother."

Pelikan specialises in rescuing, refurbishing and rehoming mid-century Danish designs.

"They strike that perfect balance between form and function," explains Rachel. "Yes, they're fantastic looking, but they also work: they're strong and practical and incredibly comfortable."

"Modern sofas are pretty much beds with huge cushions that practically push you off when you sit down. These sofas and chairs embrace you."

Sourcing the bulk of their frames directly from Denmark – having made endless pilgrimages, they now have a network of trusted suppliers – Rachel and Penny are clearly women with vision: most of the chairs and sofas arrive in a parlous state. Cast an eye over the new arrivals, stored at the back of their Haverhill studio, and you'll see stained fabric, seeping stuffing, peeling varnish.

"It's all about the frame, really; whether or not the piece has got good bones," says Penny. "We don't get too hung up on designer names; occasionally we get an attributed piece, but what we're really looking for is quality." Each item is stripped back to its skeleton and painstakingly restored using modern, fire-retardant foams and materials.

Upholstered in the best of British fabrics, most often soft-yet-hard-wearing wool, the finish is flawless.

"They really are good as new. In fact they're better than new, because the frames are such beautiful quality," says Rachel.

"You rarely see this level of craftsmanship today. Most of these pieces are 50, 60 years old, but their frames are as solid as the day they were made. In revamping the upholstery, we're giving them another 50, 60 years of life."

There's a pleasing eco and ethical ethos to Pelikan; by breathing new life into these period pieces, oftentimes Rachel and Penny are saving them from consignment to a skip. And there's an impressive integrity to their process, which starts with sourcing solely authentic frames: they use only the finest quality fabrics and their upholsterers are real craftsmen; every detail, from button-backing to piped edging, is perfect.

Rachel says, like mattresses, sofas have to be tried before buying: "When you find the right one – with the perfect seat depth for your legs and the perfect angle for your back – it's wonderful; it really feels like it was made for you."

As well as selling furniture ready-restored, Rachel and Penny restore to order, too, taking commissions for bespoke sofas, chairs and suites.

■ Pelikan is at Unit 12, Spring Rise, Falconer Road, Haverhill CB9 7XU. Call 07891 625026 or see pelikanonline.co.uk.

seater suited in Harris Tweed and booted with polished wood legs.

"These designs have so much personality; giving them a name adds to that," explains Rachel. "They're not just pieces of furniture: when they become part of your home, they become part of the family."

"We've only ever had to rename one piece," adds Penny. "We'd

Spooky stroll in the park

THOUSANDS of people turned out for Haverhill's annual Hallowe'en trail in East Town Park on Friday.

The Haverhill Town Council event was attended by 2,500 people who encountered some spooky characters on a stroll around the park.

The council's arts and leisure manager Nick Keeble said: "What a fantastic night. The balmy weather helped us to get the park set up without any issues and the people came out in their thousands to support the event."

He thanked the team of volunteers who helped set up the trail and said that a bucket collection at the free event raised £757.90. This will be put towards funding other town council events.

PLANNING

New homes set to deliver profit

NEW homes could be built on three sites in Haverhill within five years, as the plan for a council-owned housing company is pushed forward.

Borough councillors are being asked to pour £3 million into the project, which is expected to deliver £954,000 in profit within five years.

Councillors approved the idea for Barley Homes, a company joint-owned by St Edmundsbury Borough Council, Forest Heath District Council, and Suffolk County Council, in November 2015.

On Wednesday, St Edmundsbury's Overview and Scrutiny Committee will be discussing a proposed five-year business plan for the housing company.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The business plan focuses on delivering four initial sites within that period.

The News revealed in August that three of these are in Haverhill, and that the councils are hoping to construct 96 homes on them.

The sites were chosen from 43 different options owned by all three councils.

The precise locations of the four initial sites are detailed in the business plan, but this is not being released to the public as it is commercially sensitive.

Costs for the project will peak in 2019/20, when they are expected to total £11.1 million.

St Edmundsbury - which owns one quarter of the company - is being asked to contribute £3 million, with a possibility of a further £1.23 million to buy properties for renting.

The company was set up as a way of earning money for the councils in the face of cuts from central government.

The plan is expected to deliver a total of £3.8 million in the initial five-year period, of which £954,000 will go to St Edmundsbury.

The plan could be approved by the end of the year, as it will be discussed by St Edmundsbury's full council and cabinet in December.

TRAVEL

Improvements to A1307 bike route

IMPROVEMENTS to a cycle route along the A1307 are being proposed as part of a plan for 12 "greenways" leading into Cambridge.

The Cambridgeshire County Council plan would see the cycle path from Linton to Babraham improved, with a new crossing built between Linton and the Abingtons and the path extended.

OBITUARY

DEDICATED: Ron Hartley

Ron dies after life of public service

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

A FORMER councillor with 38 years service has died at the age of 90.

James Ronald Hartley – known locally as Ron – started his council career in 1961. He served on Haverhill Urban District Council, Haverhill Town Council, Suffolk County Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council. He was mayor of the borough during the 1970s, and was awarded the Freedom of the Borough in 1999.

Mr Hartley was also involved in the Haverhill Citizens' Advice Bureau and the Suffolk Association of Voluntary Organisations, and was a governor of Castle Manor School.

In his working life as a Post Office engineer, he spent 19 years as the engineering union secretary for the Cambridge branch of the Post Office.

His son David said: "He was about public service – it was something that he enjoyed doing."

"He was a gentleman, in the traditional opening a door for a lady, not using bad language way."

He said his father was also a Christian, attending church twice a week after his wife died in 2005.

Gerry Kiernan, who served with Mr Hartley on the town and borough councils for 20 years, described him as "very dedicated to Haverhill".

Leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, John Griffiths, said: "I saw him very much as one of our respected elder statesmen."

The funeral service will be held at 1.15pm on Monday, November 14, at St Mary's Church in Haverhill's Market Square. All are welcome. Donations should be made to the British Heart Foundation.

£5m fund for leisure service

A PARTNERSHIP which could see £5million invested in West Suffolk's leisure services has been approved by councillors.

Proposals to establish a long term strategy for the region's leisure provision went before members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's cabinet on Tuesday night.

They approved the establishment of a minimum 10-year partnership with Abbeycroft Leisure, which manages Haverhill Leisure Centre, and recommended the approval of the creation of a £5 million strategic investment fund.

The creation of the fund will go before St Edmundsbury's full council for final approval on December 20.

Joanna Rayner, borough councillor and cabinet member for leisure and culture, said the council recognised the need to invest to keep the leisure buildings, which it owns, "attractive and useful".

She said: "We already have a track recording of improving facilities in partnership with Abbeycroft including the Haverhill Fitness Development and the Haverhill soft play area and catering.

"If approved, an investment fund will create a facility that new schemes can be funded from and will give the council a financial return through the reduction in management fee."

Council documents reveal the investment fund "would be available for schemes that would provide new capacity or upgraded facilities".

They add that a longer term strategy will help the council to strengthen its focus on health and wellbeing.

The news comes after figures released this summer showed Haverhill had the highest level of adult obesity in West Suffolk. The data prompted a call for action to get people moving.

Borough councillor John Burns, who is also chair of leisure at Haverhill Town Council, said he was surprised at such a large figure, saying the £5 million sum appeared to have come "out of the blue".

He told the News: "I want a commitment to investment in Haverhill because it's already been announced that the leisure centre won't be fit for purpose."

"This investment fund has to be approved by the full council. It's got to include an investment in Haverhill and other areas because we mustn't forget the villages."

The council's move was welcomed by Lois Wreathall, chair of ONE Haverhill's health and wellbeing task group, which is also aiming to improve residents' access to leisure provision.

Colourful revamp for library

A LIBRARY near Haverhill has been given a new lease of life following the completion of a week-long revamp.

Kedington Library now boasts new shelves and carpet, as well as a new doorway into an outdoor garden space.

Suffolk Libraries has been working with the parish council and Kedington Community Association to spruce up the village's community centre.

Work was made possible thanks to developer funds, as well as a £1,000 donation from county councillor Tony Brown and £500 from district councillor Karen Richardson.

Library manager Dawn Bamford said: "We're very grateful to everyone who has supported this project which has made the library more accessible, bright and colourful."

JUSTICE

Hearings could be held nearer

COURT hearings could be held in Newmarket after the closure of Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court, Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner has said.

Tim Passmore said the town's Memorial Hall is one of a number of Suffolk public buildings that could be used.

He said: "We had a meeting with the new courts minister last Thursday and we've got an opportunity to come forward for amendments."

"I've got no doubt in my mind Ipswich Magistrates' Court cannot cope with the case load and it's unacceptable that the Ministry of Justice shut the courts without having alternatives available. So at our next meeting we'll be looking at public buildings, even the Memorial Hall if it's available, for an alternative arrangement."

Bury St Edmunds Magistrates' Court closed last month, with Haverhill residents now forced to take an 80-mile round trip to Ipswich for hearings.

The county's criminal justice board, which is responsible for developing new plans, will hold its next meeting on November 23.

REMEMBRANCE

Town lines up events to mark Remembrance Day

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

THE two sons of a Haverhill clergyman who both perished in the First World War will be among those commemorated during events to mark Remembrance Day.

Brothers Ivor and Merfyn Salusbury Jones will be remembered during an evening organised by the Haverhill Family History Group at the West End Church next Thursday.

Their father, Thomas Salusbury Jones, was minister at the church, which has more names on its war memorial than any other church in Haverhill.

"We Will Remember Them", will commemorate the lives of all those listed on the church's memorial, and give an insight into what life in Haverhill was like during the First World War.

A visual display will be accompanied by several short readings and music. The event starts at 7.30pm.

The following day – Armistice Day – will be marked with a two-minute silence at 11am organised by Haverhill's Royal British Legion

For more Remembrance Day stories visit cambridge-news.co.uk

LEST WE FORGET: Brothers Ivor and Merfyn Salusbury Jones, who died in the First World War in the High Street, outside the Post Office.

The branch is also involved in organising this year's Remembrance Day parade on Sunday, November 13.

The parade will start at 2.15pm at the car park behind the arts centre and will progress to the war memorial in Haverhill Cemetery.

It will be led by the Bury St Edmunds Sea Scout Band and organisations including the Haverhill Army Cadet Force and the Haverhill Air Training Corps have been invited to take part.

It will include a civic procession featuring local dignitaries including Suffolk Deputy Lieutenant

George Vestey

At the cemetery, wreaths will be laid at the town war memorial by Mayor of St Edmundsbury Julia Wakelam and Mayor of Haverhill David Roach.

The procession will then go to the town's Market Square, where a salute will be taken before a remembrance service in the church.

■ Friday, November 4 – Sunday, November 13
■ Five star comedian Lucy Porter is talking Consequences this week. You'll probably know Lucy off the telly (QI and Mock the Week) and radio (The News Quiz) but if you don't, this show will be a perfect introduction to her talents. The show has already premiered at this year's Edinburgh Festival and has received the aforementioned five star reviews so go along tomorrow at 8pm and see for yourself why Lucy is so popular.

■ Jethro comes to the arts centre on Wednesday, November 9, with his show 40 Years the Joker. Unfortunately, it's too late to get tickets to see the West Country jester so to make sure you get to hear about new developments in the arts centre programme like the Facebook page or follow on Twitter.

■ The Men Who Marched Away is by the same team who have performed A Medieval Christmas, A Victorian Christmas and The Canterbury Tales at the arts centre. It commemorates the 100th anniversary of the First World War with soldiers' songs, music hall numbers, war poems set to new music and original compositions. The show does not flinch from conveying the full horror of the first global conflict but also celebrates the courage and humour of soldiers under fire and those they left behind. Featuring a host of wartime standards such as Pack-up Your Troubles, Tipperary and Goodbye-ee as well as brand-new musical settings of poems by lesser-known war poets such as May Wedderburn Cannan and C. Fox-Smith, The Men Who Marched Away is a moving tribute to the fallen and a fitting reminder of their sacrifice. It will be performed on Saturday, November 12.

■ Catch up with Haverhill Silver Band as it showcases the talent of its musicians with a variety of solos, duets and trios on Sunday, November 13, at 7.30pm. It is also billed as a chance to learn more about the instruments played and the players who play them.

■ The arts centre has a matinee performance at 1.30pm of Bridget Jones's Baby on Monday, November 7.

■ Free State of Jones stars Matthew McConaughey as Newt Jones a Confederate soldier during the American Civil War. GONE: This 1964 DB5 fetched £825,000 on Vero

Aston is first-ever social media sale

A 1964 Aston Martin DB5 became the first-ever classic car sale completed via social media when it was sold for £825,000 by international auctioneers Coys on the next-generation platform Vero. The sale also marked the largest known transaction made via Apple Pay.

The car is one of the highly sought-after right hand drive silver birch models with red leather trim. It has undergone a full restoration – including engine rebuild, suspension and gearbox overhaul following 20 years in dry storage, during which time it was not used.

Coys had announced earlier in the month at the Mondial de L'Automobile – Paris Motor Show, which remains the most visited automobile show in the world with 1,066,439 visitors, that customers would be able to purchase a selection of historic cars via Vero, including the iconic DB5 which featured in their exhibition area at the international biennial event.

The buyer, who wished to remain anonymous, bought the DB5 with Apple Pay directly from the Coys profile on Vero (<http://apple.co/2blri6N>) after seeing it at the show.

Honda triumphs at the MPG Marathon

HONDA has taken home the most awards for one manufacturer in the latest annual 'MPG Marathon', scooping the 'Most Efficient Family Car' and 'Four Wheel Drive' titles; first and second place in the 'Load Lugging Economy Champion' class; second and third place overall in 'Best Percentage Improvement on MPG', and third 'Best Outright MPG' among the pack of 22 competing vehicles.

The MPG Marathon is an intense two-day eco-driving challenge which tests the skill of the competing drivers and the real-world fuel economy of the participating vehicles to the absolute maximum. Held on October 18 and 19, the event saw competing teams drive 400 miles over the two days.

Insurers can't stop rises as 3/4m claim 'whiplash'

MOTORISTS face paying nearly £82 more for their car insurance than they did a year ago typically – and prices are likely to continue heading upwards, a report has found.

Someone shopping around for comprehensive annual cover can now expect to pay £585.84, according to the AA's British Insurance Premium Index – an increase of more than £20 in the three months ending September 30.

The cost has surged by 16.3 per cent over the past 12 months, adding nearly £82 to a typical motor policy. A year ago, a motorist shopping around for a deal could expect to pay around £503.90.

The continued "epidemic" of whiplash claims has helped to push up the cost of cover, as have two recent hikes in insurance premium tax (IPT), according to the report.

The AA estimates the recent IPT increases have added around £18 to the average car insurance premium over the past year – and it urged the Government not to impose any further hikes in this tax in the Autumn Statement.

"We are witnessing sustained price increases once again which is bad news for drivers," said Michael Lloyd, the AA's director of insurance.

He continued: "I can't see an immediate end to the current upward trend."

PLEA: Chancellor Philip Hammond can help stop the epidemic of claims firms driving insurance rises

Mr Lloyd said: "The whiplash epidemic has dogged the British motor insurance industry for a decade and continues to do so.

"Drivers are still being pressured into making claims for often minor collisions they might have forgotten about. This is pushing up claims costs, because insurers can't prove that an injury wasn't suffered."

He said the activities of claims management firms make life more difficult for those with a genuine injury.

Looking across the UK, motorists in Northern Ireland appear to be the worst hit by price hikes in the past three months, the index found.

"Motor insurance is a mandatory requirement and there is absolutely no justification for further hikes in IPT in the Autumn Statement," added Lloyd. "Coupled with predicted price increases, any additional tax burden would simply add to the growing number of uninsured drivers."

The continuing whiplash epidemic is shocking.

"In August almost 70,000 small injury claims (of up to £25,000) were made; and more than 839,000 over 12 months, of which around 750,000 were for whiplash.

"The whiplash epidemic has dogged the British motor insurance industry for a decade and continues to do so.

"Drivers are still being pressured into making claims for often minor collisions they might have forgotten about. This is pushing up claims costs, because insurers can't prove that an injury wasn't suffered."

Lloyd has reacted with "despair" that the additional and much-delayed Ministry of Justice reforms designed to curb the activities of claim firms, announced in last year's Autumn Statement, appear to have been shelved.

The Autumn Statement is due on November 23.

Ford's green wave goodbye to red lights

FORD is trying out technology in the UK that will allow drivers to "ride the green wave", potentially making waiting at red lights a thing of the past.

The Green Light Optimal Speed Advisory system takes information on traffic light timings from a roadside unit to let the driver know the best speed at which to travel to make a green light.

The technology is being tested by the American manufacturer to help convey the benefits of connected cars for UK Autodrive – the country's largest connected and self-driving car trial.

The aim of the 16-member, £20 million project is to develop and test vehicle-to-vehicle and vehicle-to-infrastructure technologies that will help to reduce the stress of driving, make it a less time-consuming practice, reduce emissions and improve fuel economy.

Christian Ress, supervisor at Driver Assist Technologies, Ford Research and Advanced Engineering, said: "Enabling drivers to 'ride the green wave' also means a smoother, continuous journey that helps to improve the flow of traffic and provide significant reductions in carbon dioxide emissions and fuel consumption."

If you do end up stopping at a red light you'll be shown how much time is left until the light turns green.

FORD: Technology saves time at lights – apparently drivers spend two days a year waiting for them to turn green!

X-CLASS: Due next year

Mercedes' new truck has the X-Class factor

PICK-UPS may have a reputation for being tough but Mercedes-Benz is taking trucks into the posh zone with its new X-Class.

The first pick-up to wear the three-pointed star badge will be on sale late next year and to give a clue of what's in store the company has revealed two concept models.

One is aimed at the rough-and-tumble traditionally associated with pick-ups and the other adds a touch of luxury with a full leather interior and top-spec trimmings.

Mercedes has dubbed the first version of its Concept X-Class the 'powerful adventurer' and the other it is calling the 'stylish explorer'.

Both models are being developed as part of Mercedes' link-up with the Renault-Nissan Alliance and the X-Class will be built in Spain alongside the Navara.

Ford goes upmarket with Vignale Kuga and Edge

FORD is to bring a touch of up-market additions to its latest Kuga and Edge SUV motors by offering them with extra Vignale equipment and interior luxury.

Cutting-edge technologies include Ford's Adaptive Front Lighting System that adjusts the headlight beam angle and intensity to match the driving environment, and the SYNC 3 Communication and entertainment system that delivers faster performance and an eight-inch touch screen that enables pinch and swipe gestures.

Both the Ford Kuga Vignale mid-size SUV and Ford Edge large SUV deliver exclusive specification and high-quality materials including tuxedo-stitched Windsor leather interiors, unique Vignale colours, and detailing including the signature Ford Vignale hexagonal grille design.

New gear offered on the Ford Kuga Vignale include Ford's perpendicular parking that helps drivers park hands free in spaces alongside other cars, an enhanced version of the active city stop collision avoidance system and hands-free Liftgate for easier access to the luggage compartment.

The Edge has also been upgraded with additional technologies designed to help reduce stress for drivers including front wide-view camera which can see around corners even when drivers cannot to potentially help avert collisions, blind spot information system, traffic sign recognition, lane keeping alert and driver fatigue monitors.

The latest engines for the range include Ford's 210bhp bi-turbo TDCi diesel for Ford Edge Vignale, and 182bhp 1.5-litre EcoBoost petrol engine for Ford Kuga Vignale.

The new Ford Kuga Vignale and Ford Edge Vignale upscale sport utility vehicles expand the Ford

Vignale portfolio to four models following the introduction of the Ford Mondeo Vignale four-door and estate in 2015 the S-Max Vignale seven-seat sports activity vehicle earlier this year.

Prices for the Kuga Vignale start from £30,795 for a front-wheel-drive 148bhp 2.0-litre diesel and from £38,000 for the Edge Vignale with a 176bhp 2.0-litre diesel engine.

How to improve a car's performance by 70%

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking recently analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at more than 500 econometric models, covering a five-year period and, as the table here shows, they found that adding newspapers dramatically increases the effectiveness of other media.

In the automotive sector they reviewed companies that ranged from the big spending German giants of the industry to medium sized independent carmakers.

And they discovered that by adding newspaper advertising to their campaigns, they cranked up their effectiveness by over 70%.

Increased effectiveness using newspapers

Retail	Automotive	Finance
2.8x	1.7x	5.7x

So, whatever the size your business or budget, get motoring into newspapers.

Do you want to save yourself the expensive repairs associated with the damage blocked gutters can cause to your home?

Regular clearing helps to prevent blocked gutters which can lead to costly repairs from burst pipes and water damage to your house structure.

Contact James on 01480 831970 (Evenings) or 07471 164278 (Daytime) for an honest, reliable gutter clearing service.

Prices start at £20 a house.

Shootout heroics send Rovers into next round

GOALKEEPER Charlie Turner and captain Sam Holmes were the heroes for Haverhill Rovers as they beat Saffron Walden on penalties in the Thurlow Nunn League Cup.

Rovers took the lead in Tuesday night's tie when good work by Ben Bradley, Luke Haines and Danny Hill ended with the latter firing home.

The hosts had a great chance to equalise when Craig Calver went down under a challenge from Ryan Geoghegan, and the referee awarded a penalty.

But Shaun Avis missed his spot kick, and Rovers looked like going to half time with their lead intact.

Walden did not give up though, and they finally equalised in first-half stoppage time when James Crane shot into the bottom corner.

Both sides had chances to win in regular time, with Rovers substitute Billy Bush putting pressure on a Walden defender that led to fellow substitute Owen Longley getting in on goal before a defender recovered.

Haines put a 20-yard free kick on to the top of the home cross bar, and Walden's James Solkhon hit the woodwork from close range following a Calver free kick.

Bush almost clinched victory for the away side in the 90th minute when he was put in on goal. He touched the ball past Pacey only for a fantastic block from home captain Spike Bell to deny him.

With the scores locked at 1-1 the match went to penalties.

Calver and Haines both scored their kicks, but Walden's Joe Murphy had his saved.

Harry Halls scored to make it 2-1 to Haverhill but after Marc Abbott scored for Walden, Rory Jebb had his saved to level the shootout up at 2-2.

When Bell had his penalty saved, Bradley netted to restore Haverhill's advantage.

Graeme Turner made it 3-3 but Holmes calmly slotted his penalty past the despairing dive of Pacey to send his side through.

On Saturday, Rovers came from behind to enjoy a 2-1 win at Wivenhoe Town in the Premier Division thanks to an own goal and a goal from Longley.

In the First Division, Haverhill Borough beat Cornard United 2-1 at the New Croft.

All the goals came in the second half, with Boro netting twice in three minutes through Jarid Robson and Ryan Swallow.

Cornard pulled a goal back in the 64th minute but Boro finished the match strongly, with Martin Westcott hitting the post, and Gareth Thomas and Craig Pruden going close to adding a third.
